For 2 players / Ages 6 and up

Rules ©1994 Parker Brothers, Division of Tonka Corporation, Beverly, MA 01915.

OBJECT

To be the player whose gummy guy's arms hit the table last! Who can hang out the longest?

EQUIPMENT

- 2 GUM GUYS™ molds
- PEANUTTY PUTTY® compound
- 2 sets of arms, legs, eyebrows/hanger hooks
- Desk
- 24 Weights

NOTE: The PEANUTTY PUTTY compound is not gum and, although it is non-toxic, it should not be consumed.

SETUP

- Do not mold your guys on a carpet, upholstered furniture or other porous surface.
- Build the desk. (See instructions on back.)
- Put the weights and the die where both players can reach them.
- Mold your guys (see back). Hang them on the bar behind the desk, with their faces towards you.
- After playing, put the PEANUTTY PUTTY back in the plastic bag to keep it clean.

GAME PLAY

- The youngest player goes first and rolls the die.
- What did you roll?

Hang one weight on your guy. Use either color. Hang it anywhere on an arm or leg or between fingers. Don't hang it in the putty or off the hanger hook.

Hang two weights anywhere on an arm or leg or between fingers.

Hang one weight—but your opponent tells you where to hang it!

OFF

Take any one weight off your guy. What a relief!

- If you run out of weights, keep rolling!

Your opponent takes one weight off his/her guy and gives it to you to put on your guy!

Your opponent takes two weights off his/her guy and gives them to you to put on yours! Ouch!

Your opponent takes one weight off his/her guy and tells you where to hang it on yours!

OFF

Take any one weight off your guy and put it on the table.

Note: As your guy stretches out, he may drop a weight or two. Just put them back on the weights pile. If weights fall during your turn, replace them and finish your turn.

WINNING

So, who hung out the longest? The winner is the player whose guy's arms hit the table last!

HOW TO BUILD THE DESK

1. Ask a parent to cut the desk parts off the runner, using scissors.
2. Attach a triangular base support to the end of each leg. Lay the legs flat on the table.
3. Snap a cross beam section to the top of each leg.
4. Stand both legs up and join the ends of the cross beam sections.
5. Punch out the cardboard desk and slip it over the hooks on the completed cross beam assembly, with the picture facing you.

HOW TO MOLD YOUR GUYS

1. Ask a parent to cut the body parts (arms, legs, eyebrows/hanger hooks) off the runner, using scissors. Each player takes a matching color set.
2. Knead the PEANUTTY PUTTY compound for a few minutes to make it gummy, then roll it out into a hotdog shape about 4 inches long.
3. Divide the putty in half using the cutter on the side of a mold; the player who divided it lets the other player pick a wad first.
4. First, turn all the body parts so the numbers are face-up. Put the parts into your mold in the numbered order, exactly as shown, with the numbers face-up.
5. This is important: Only tough guys win races, so press your guy till he's hard! Roll your putty into a ball and center it in your mold, on top of the body parts. Press it in with your fingertips. Press very hard. Work the putty into the hole completely, especially into the center face area; don't let the putty build up on the flat surface of the mold. Now turn the mold over on the table top and press down hard on the back of it with all your body weight to mush the putty around the parts. To see if you've pressed it in enough, turn the mold over: If you've pressed hard enough, you'll see the putty through the hole in the "nose" of the mold! If you don't see putty, keep pressing!
6. When you're ready to start your game, grab the hanger hook and quickly pull your guy out of the mold. (See at right.)
7. Hang both molded guys off the bar behind the desk at the same time. The faces should be facing you. The race has now begun!
