Furbys date code is in the form of a hot stamp. It is located inside the battery compartment, visible while looking directly into the compartment.

There is a high pitched tone coming from Furby and/or my iOS device.

The noise you are hearing is how Furby communicates with the mobile device and other Furbys. Some people may hear it, others will not. Some animals may also hear the noise. Don't worry, the tone will not cause any harm to people or animals.

I changed the batteries in my Furby to fresh/new alkaline batteries and it is still acting "weird". How do I fix it?
